

8 September 2021

20th Annual Learning and Teaching Conference

Co-creating a decolonised curriculum: moving beyond metrics to a dialogue for change

David Grey

David Grey is the Chief Executive of UK Advising and Tutoring (UKAT), a UK higher education membership association focused on ensuring that every HE student experiences effective personal tutoring which personalises their learning and enables them to flourish. David has over 25 years' experience as an academic and personal tutor. He now works with universities across the higher education sector to enhance personal tutoring provision and is an active researcher who publishes regularly in the field. David also works closely with NACADA, The Global Community for Academic Advising, and is an HEA Senior Fellow and UKAT Recognised Leader in Advising.