

Pete Quinn

An independent consultant expert in supporting best-in-field personnel to manage equality, diversity and inclusion and using wellbeing initiatives that are evidence based. Key strengths include specialising in reviewing inclusive practice including inclusive design, disability confidence reviews/training and devising strategic/operational approaches in continually evolving and challenging circumstances for some of the best universities in the world and other global organisations; acting as a catalyst of change responsible for confidently managing complex equality-related challenges. As former Head of the University of Oxford's Disability Advisory Service, Pete collaborated on inclusion with all of Oxford's teaching spaces, laboratories, libraries and museums.

Recent achievements

Wellcome Trust and Wellcome Collection: Neurodiversity Audit

- Alongside with a neurodiverse colleague Pete undertook a Neurodiversity Audit of the entire Wellcome building space comprising the Wellcome Collection, Reading Room and Office and meeting environment. This combination of neurodiverse and neurotypical coproduction enabled an overview of Wellcome's strengths, challenges and opportunities over a range of environments. The subsequent report enabled the Wellcome Trust to note what was successful and what changes could and should be made to enable a neurodiverse accessible environment.

Education University of Hong Kong: Consultant on Inclusive Teaching & Learning.

- Most recently Pete developed and delivered training for the HK Govt Education Board via EduHK to teachers from 84 schools across HK. As considered national expert, Pete has visited HK to deliver seminars to 800 participants enabling understanding of best practice on university transition, retention and success, resulting in different approaches to diverse talent in schools and some universities. Outside of HK education Pete has presented webinars on diversity and inclusion to HK blue-chip companies and facilitated visits from HK organisations to different universities in the UK. Pete succeeded in educating on diversity, he has been retained for 6+ years to date.
