9. Criteria for admission to the programme

For year one admission, Middlesex University general entry requirements apply, including GCSE's (grades A to C) in Mathematics and English language. Applicants whose first language is not English are required to achieve 6.0 in IELTS overall (with a minimum of 5.5 in each component) or an equivalent qualification recognised by Middlesex University.

For entry with advanced standing to year 2 (or final year), candidates must have achieved both 120 credits at level one (or 240 credits including 100 at level two) and must have successfully met the relevant learning outcome and syllabus requirements of the programme.

The equivalence of qualifications from outside the UK will be determined according to NARIC guidance.

10. Aims of the programme

The programme aims to explore the factors contributing to business success, particularly the role of human resource management. Emphasis is placed on the applications of models and techniques necessary to achieve superior performance in organisations. The programme develops skills in analysis and planning, and develops the ability to solve business and management problems.

The programme aims to:

- Equip its graduates with the knowledge, skills and competence to a level where they can make a contribution to an organisation's management of its human resources.
- Benchmark taught learning outcomes to external professional standards to enable successful students to claim membership of the Chartered Management Institute (CMI) and to have the knowledge required for Associate Membership of the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD)

Assessment methods

Students' graduate skills are assessed by participation in group activities and through individual reflection. Competence in IT and the interpretation of numerical data is a prerequisite for the completion of assessments throughout

12. Programme structure (levels, modules, credits and progression requirements)

12.1 Overall structure of the programme

The programme is studied over three years full-time, or four years if the option of a 12 month placement is taken. Students study four 30 credit modules per year. The first year comprises of four compulsory modules - two dedicated exclusively to this programme and two shared with closely associated programmes. These modules are designed to bring all students to a standard level of academic competence to pursue further study in the subject.

In the second year students study three compulsory modules designed to expand knowledge of the behaviour of people in organisations, of human resource functions (resourcing, relations, reward, learning/development), environments and competences benchmarked to CIPD standards. In the second year students are also able to undertake an option from a selected number of specialist modules. These include topics from specialist HRM subjects, other management disciplines, and work-based-learning options. At the end of the second year, students may opt to take a year's placement before returning to complete their final year of study.

In the final year students will study three compulsory modules designed to advance skills and knowledge appropriate to graduate level. This will include the study of managerial leadership, managerial strategy and the further study of the key elements of the HR function learnt previously, but now set within critical-case scenarios.

Alongside the formal taught modules, students will also participate in a series of timetabled activities within an integrating 'professional development' module, aligned to one of the core exclusive modules in each year of study. This additional element is designed to develop students' integration of knowledge and skills taken from discrete taught modules and to apply them to key behaviours within the CIPD intermediate standards.

14. Information about assessment regulations

Middlesex University and Business School Assessment Regulations apply to this programme, without exception.

15. Placement opportunities, requirements and support (if applicable)

A 12 month placement is offered at the end of year 2. A dedicated Employability Advisor helps in the search for an appropriate employer and provides students with appropriate Placement. It also provides students with appropriate guidance and support in preparation for during and after placement. The placement forms the basis for an assessed report based on the organisation. At the start of the placement students are allocated an individual supervisor from Middlesex University Business School who provides support and advice for the duration of the project. All placement reports are double marked.

Alternatively, students may opt to take two shorter placements between years 1 and 2 and between years 2 and 3.

16. Future careers (if applicable)

The University provides a Careers Service, and this programme includes scheduled career planning sessions. This programme provides an ideal academic background for students wishing to pursue a career in general business management and of particular benefit for those wishing to pursue careers in the human resource function. It is equally suited to both private and public sector management; to large and small business. The programme is also well suited to further study; being appropriate for masters level in general business and management but also to CIPD professionally accredited masters study in human resource management.

17. Particular support for learning (if applicable)

- English Language Support and Numeracy support offered by the Learner Development Unit
- Library-based learning resources
- Student Achievement Advisors
