

Middlesex
University
London

AUTUMN 2020

A group of five diverse students are walking up a set of stairs outdoors. In the foreground, a young woman with long blonde hair is smiling broadly. Behind her, a young man in a blue and red jacket, another young man in a black jacket, a young woman in a pink and white top, and another young woman in a black puffer jacket are also smiling. The background shows a modern building with windows and some trees.

A WARM WELCOME FROM VICE-CHANCELLOR NIC BEECH

As you get to know Middlesex for yourself, I want to share what makes Middlesex stand out for me.

Firstly, our practical and forward-thinking approach, which is at the heart of our teaching, learning and research.

Practical learning is all about real situations and using your skills to find effective solutions to problems. That's why you'll learn side by side with academics, researchers, businesses and professionals.

Secondly, the way we look out for each other. Our global Team MDX community is positive and supportive. It's only grown stronger in the time we were away from campus this year. From academic experts, to our mental health and wellbeing support and our award winning careers support, there's always someone there to help if you need it.

When you study here, we want to see you grow and make sure you've got the skills and confidence to get where you want to go after university.

That's my perspective on Middlesex. I always say that the best people to tell you what it's like to study here are the students who are with us now. This event is your chance to ask them any questions you have about being part of Team MDX - so make the most of it so you can be sure that Middlesex is right for you.

I really hope that you'll choose to join us.

makes MDX stand out
